

Resource Title	Group-Based Interventions for Students with “Can’t Do” Problems
Purpose(s)	The purpose of this document is to describe different curricula that have been developed to teach students specific social, emotional, and behavioral skills. These curricula are for “Can’t Do” students, that is, those students who don’t possess certain skills and need specific direct instruction in order to acquire and apply them during naturally occurring situations inside and outside of school.
